EASTSIDE TRAIL

QUICK FACTS

The Eastside Trail is 3 miles in length from 10th Street & Monroe Drive to Kirkwood Avenue.

The Northeast Hiking Trail is 1 mile in length from 10th Street, north to Montgomery Ferry Rd.

These trails connect Piedmont Park, Atlanta Botanical Garden, Historic Fourth Ward Park, the Stone Mountain Trail, and Freedom Park.

The southern extension, between Kirkwood Avenue and Memorial Drive will be under construction in 2018. The trail will also be closed between Edgewood Avenue and DeKalb Avenue until development is complete on that site in early 2019.

DISCOVER A NEW WAY FORWARD

Using a 33-mile network of multi-use trails, the Atlanta BeltLine is creating a new public realm – offering a pedestrian-friendly environment which promotes walking, jogging, biking, and affordable housing. An arboretum made up of large trees, native and naturalized grasses, and wildflowers will line the corridor thanks to the tireless work of Trees Atlanta.

In its final phases, the Atlanta BeltLine will include a 22-mile continuous corridor, as well as numerous other extensions that link to many of Atlanta’s existing parks and trails. Though the program is currently still in development, many trail segments and parks are open to explore today.

QUICK FACTS
Multi-use trail portion is 1.15 miles in length.
On-street portion with sharrows is 1.6 miles in length.
Connects Lionel Hampton Trail to Westwood Avenue, Ralph David Abernathy Boulevard, and the West End Trail.
Provides improved access to Beecher Hills Elementary School.
